This Book Belongs to

Dorothy Dunn.

Between these massive columns pass
A multitude of searching souls.
Wisdom, Learning, Education
Are their somewhat distant goals.
Some wish only to be wise men,
Some are striving to be learned;
Others want an education,—
Experience which life has earned.
Some are earnest in endeavor,
Others only think of play;
Many drop out by the roadside,
For it is a toilsome way.
Thus they journey through the ages,
Each one striving for his goal;
Never satisfied an instant,—
'Tis the lot of every soul.

The Seasons

With HEREINAFTER'S and eke, WHEREBY'S,
Bargains we drive with the seasons four;
Each takes a bit of our life as he flies,
But leaves a gem in our memory's store.

Bloom o' the maple heralds spring,
And the gleam of the bluebird's welcome wing;
With music and color the woods are rife,
We thrill with the joy of advancing life;
We run and we leap like the woodland roes,
Javelins we hurl at imagined foes.
Memories of quick-plusing youth—
These are left by spring, of a truth.

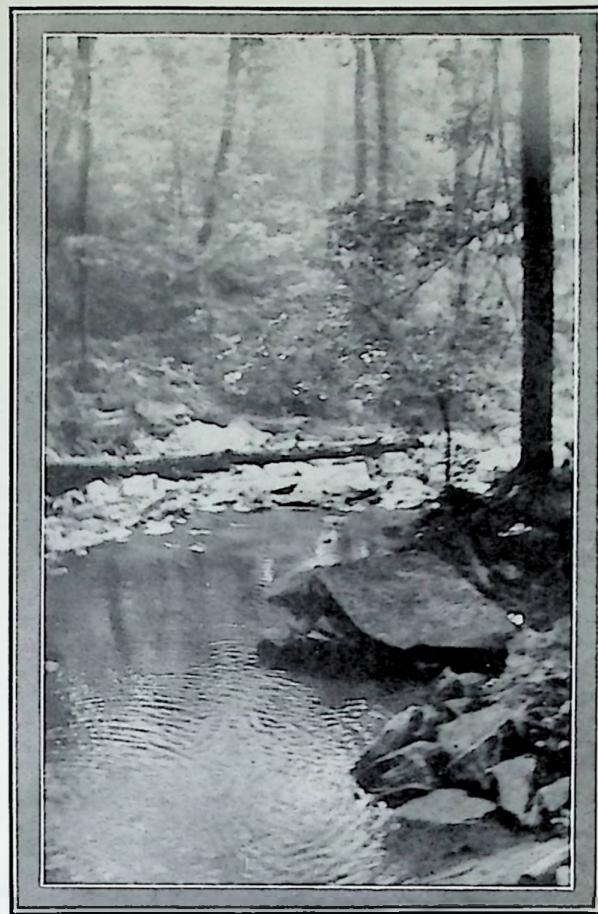

The woodthrush sings to the sweet wild rose,
When the first faint gleam in the glad east glows;
For it is summer. The long, long day
Is all too short for our happy play.
We tip-toe stand on the hill's high crest,
And the swimming hole that we love the best
We seek when the sun pours down hot beams—
What ho! for the summer woods, hills, streams!

There is golden rod by the dusty way,
And our merry neighbor calls, "Jay! Jay! Jay!"
From the oak tree top. There are yellow and red
On every tree till the leaves are shed.
Now meet we the warriors who come from far
To show what manner of men they are;
Autumn—and sport—and Thanksgiving day,—
And our "Rah! Rah! Rah's!" match the "Jay! Jay! Jay!"

Winter is here, and the mistletoe
Is dark on the white of the gleaming snow;
The cardinal sings, "What cheer! What cheer!"
When he is merry, why should we fear?
Yet safe indoors we argue and ponder,
And let him sing in the woods out yonder.
"Tis winter, so balls we blithly toss,
And figure profit, and reckon loss.

But the gems pile fast in our memory's store,
One for each bit of our life that flies
When bargains we drive with the seasons four,
With our HEREINAFTER'S and eke, WHEREBY'S!

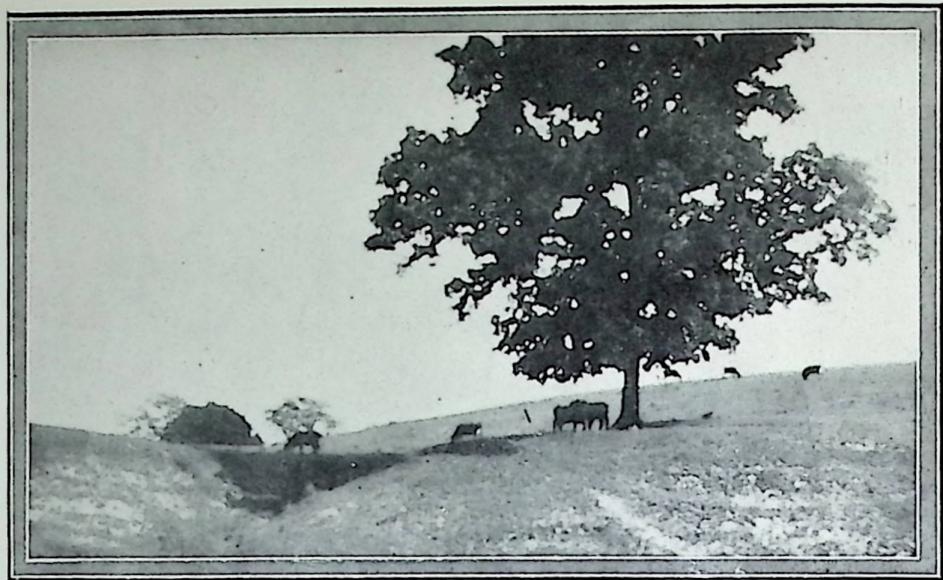

—Bert Leach.

Miss Margaret M. Ball

Dedication

We, the Class of 1924, in order to show our appreciation for her advice, care and co-operation, and above all, for her friendship, dedicate this book to Miss Margaret M. Ball.

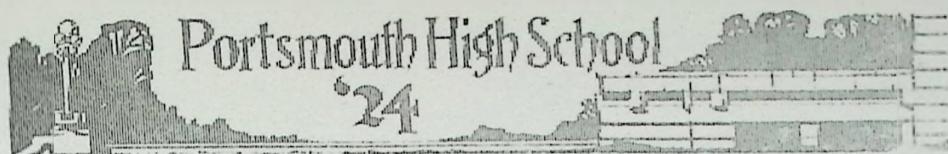

Principal Henry H. Eccles

In the fall of 1920 a class of one hundred and nineteen Freshmen entered Portsmouth High School. At this time there was one other person besides that class who entered these halls for the first time. Mr. Eccles, our Principal, has been with us all during our career in Portsmouth High School, and has been an excellent friend and advisor to us. It is with the highest regard and best wishes for his future success that we say farewell to Mr. Eccles.

In Memoriam

GARNET ECKHART

Though she is gone from this fair earth
To fairer worlds beyond the sky,
Still do we think of her with love,
Nor seek to know the reason
Why her heart no longer beats.
Her life was as a fleeting breath,
Inhaled,—expelled, and gone for aye—
Or, as a comet, flashing through the sky
Is seen for but a little while,
Then disappears from sight.

Class History

OW that the time for leaving is near, it is a little hard to realize four years ago we were entering a new institution; awesome and unknown it seemed to us. It is hardly necessary to describe the common feelings of all who have proudly started that first day in P. H. S., that feeling of expectation, suspense and, perhaps, humiliation. All was before us; nothing was against us, and everything was to be had for the seeking. Learning to climb rapidly under the conscientious tutelage of that exalted and dignified body, the Seniors, the humble Freshies audaciously formed a class basketball team which threatened to crush the haughty Senior basketeers. The Freshies even went so far as to tie the Seniors for the Boys' Class Championship, and 'tis said that the lowly Freshies would have triumphed had another opportunity been given to break the tie.

Nor were athletics the only interest from which the Freshmen wrested laurels. In the class debates, the Freshmen debaters clashed with the Sophomores. To the chagrin of our more learned and experienced opponents, the decision was given in favor of the newer aspirants to forensic fame. So, besides the usual organization, the lowly Freshies had climbed far enough to make their mark in two major school activities, basketball and debating.

Returning to lord it over the new aggregation of "greenies," we, as Sophomores, soon resumed the upward climb a little higher than the year before. Zest was added occasionally to the routine of school at the expense of some poor Freshie. Giving due attention to our studies, we entered into other realms for conquest. On the 'varsity debate squad, the Sophomores were ably represented by Laurence Kimble. With the valuable experience of the previous year, four members of the boys' 'varsity basketball team were Sophomores, and the same number of girls represented us on the girls' 'varsity basketball team. Three of our number were awarded letters for 'varsity football. Thus, when half of our stay in P. H. S. was over, the Class of '24 had added, to its stores of knowledge, new experiences for the future.

As Juniors, there was no retrogression in our activities. Men like ELLSESSER, Callahan, Phillips and others were a great source of strength on the 'varsity football squad. On the girls' basketball squad, we boasted of Margaret Armstrong, Helen Hopkins, and Mary Louise Selby, all crack players. Flowers, Phillips and Ellsesser were an integral part of the boys' basketcaging machine. The track season likewise found Junior classmen upholding the honor of P. H. S. on the cinder path. New debaters came forth in the persons of Georgia West, Esther Graf, Walter Severinghaus and John Piarr to aid Laurence Kimble on the P. H. S. debating teams. We were also proud to record an honor from another source, given to one of our happy throng. Arthur Brooks, in the Commercial Department, passed a speed-accuracy test in typing, which has been passed by only seven high school students in the United States and Canada. He is the only person in the State of Ohio, as well, who has passed this test, for which a Remington typewriter is the reward.

It was in this same year that the Junior-Senior Banquet was staged in the school dining hall. A more detailed description of it is being given further on.

And now we are Seniors, soon to receive our diplomas and to be graduated. The position which we longed to gain is ours; it becomes us to accept our responsibility. The gridiron and the basketball floor find Seniors again using their talent and their experience from previous years for the glory of P. H. S. Special interest is being added to the debating season this year, for P. H. S. is winner in the Debate League, and the Class of '24 carries its full share in bringing the shield and the silver loving cup to P. H. S. In social affairs, the opportunity that comes once in four years has made it possible for the girls to have a "chance." So a Leap Year party is held in the early part of January. The "gurls" very coyly "ast th' fellers" to go to the party with them. And there at the party, held in the new gym, the "gurls" treated the "fellers, ast 'em to dance, 'n ever'thing." "Dancin' 'n cards wuz enjoyed by all, and th' fellers say that th' gurls make purty good fellers."

Looking back over the past is not profitable, except as we do so to benefit by the mistakes therein and to gain inspiration for future. Perfection has not been in our midst any more than in other classes. We have made our mistakes, but if we have endeavored to encourage higher scholarship, if the ideals of fair play and sportsmanship in athletics have been cherished within and fostered without, if we have learned to work, and by our example have led others to do likewise, then we have acquired knowledge and experience for future use. May we still bring honor to our school in later years by using rightly the training gained here.

Junior History of 1923-24

THE Class of '25 is well represented in all school activities, good, bad and indifferent, including "the measly 5%." Soon after we again entered the home of Mother Knowledge, we reorganized our class and chose as our leader, Harold (otherwise "Buck") Armstrong, having as his worthy assistant Louise Bradshaw. Other members chosen were: Margaret Smith, Secretary, and James Pugh, Treasurer. Early in September, our gridiron at Seventeenth and Findlay, lured many Juniors away every evening. Consequently, five of our number fought and bled for the honor and glory of P. H. S. We are proud to state that these distinguished fellows were: "Bick" Monk, "Bill" Moore, Carlton Munson, "Bub" Heffner and "Buck" Armstrong. It was a great day for our class when these fellows marched upon the stage and received their well-earned letters.

Another branch of athletics represented by our class was basketball. The star forward was again a Junior, "Bick" Monk, who was always in the midst of the fray. Several more of our boys were also on the squad, thus showing our spirit. But all honors do not go to the boys! For, when the girls' varsity basketball team was formed, "Jimmy" Stewart, "Tad" Scott, "Lib" Nye, "Marg" Ginn and Melissa Justice went straight to the front. They claim that this is what "eggs and toast" did for them. Who dares to say that vim and pep do not help to make a team? Of this group of girls, "Jimmy" will receive her coveted "P."

Another form of ball is "head ball." In spite of all other interests, three members of our class have found time to show their skill in debating, and without doubt did much to bring home a silver cup and a shield, as well as honor to the Red and Blue. This was our only championship team turned out this year, and we are proud to say that these three Juniors, Lucille Henson, Irene Slattery, and William Plummer, helped win these trophies.

Our class is likewise well represented in all other organizations of the school.

This Class of '25 is right there when it comes to furnishing entertainment for the rest of the school. Not long ago the battle-scarred gym of P. H. S. was in full dress suit of purple and gold, when the Junior Bazaar was held. All enjoyed themselves to the fullest extent. The money taken from this bazaar was added to the fund previously made by selling football badges, "Go get 'em, Portsmouth!" The total amount will be used to feed the hungry Seniors at a future banquet. We hope we have enough, for these Seniors surely can eat. If you don't believe it, watch them some day at lunch.

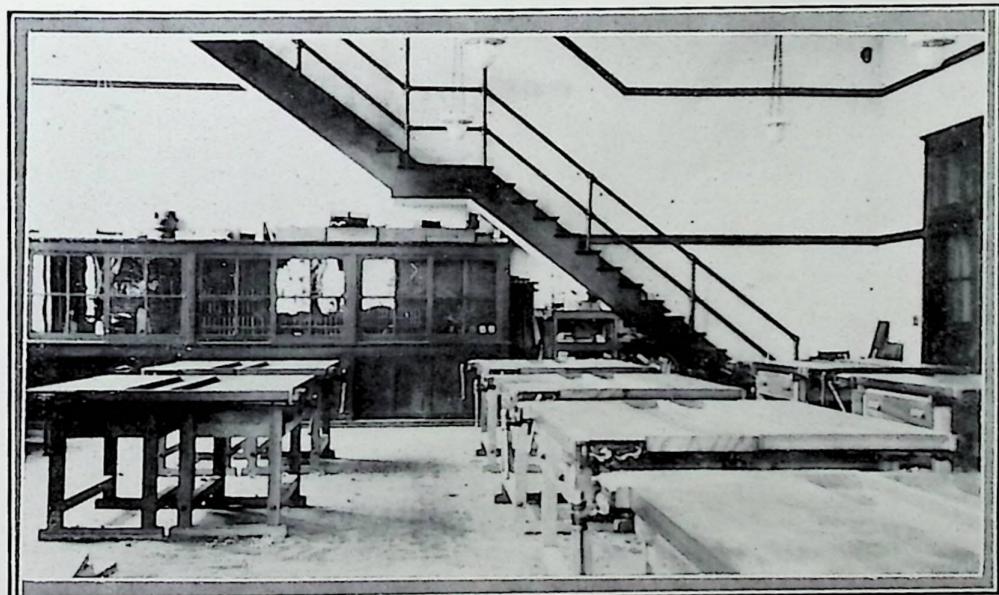

But all good things must come to an end some time, and the end of this semester has come. So we feel sure the Juniors can contribute a full chapter to the "Annals of P. H. S. History" for one year at least. The Class of '25 attributes its success to the willingness and generosity of its beloved faculty member, Miss Rickey.

Class History

IN the fall of the year 1922, an unusually large class of Freshmen was initiated into the ancient mysteries of P. H. S., which, to say the least, were quite damp. We of '26, however, were destined to become a little better and a little greater as time passed onward, regardless of the fact that our teachers sometimes estimated our worth at zero minus. During the first year of our high school career members of our ranks were engaged in all the various school activities, and did their level best to forward the interests of the Red and Blue. So quickly did the time pass that summer arrived before we realized it, and we scampered off to enjoy a much needed vacation.

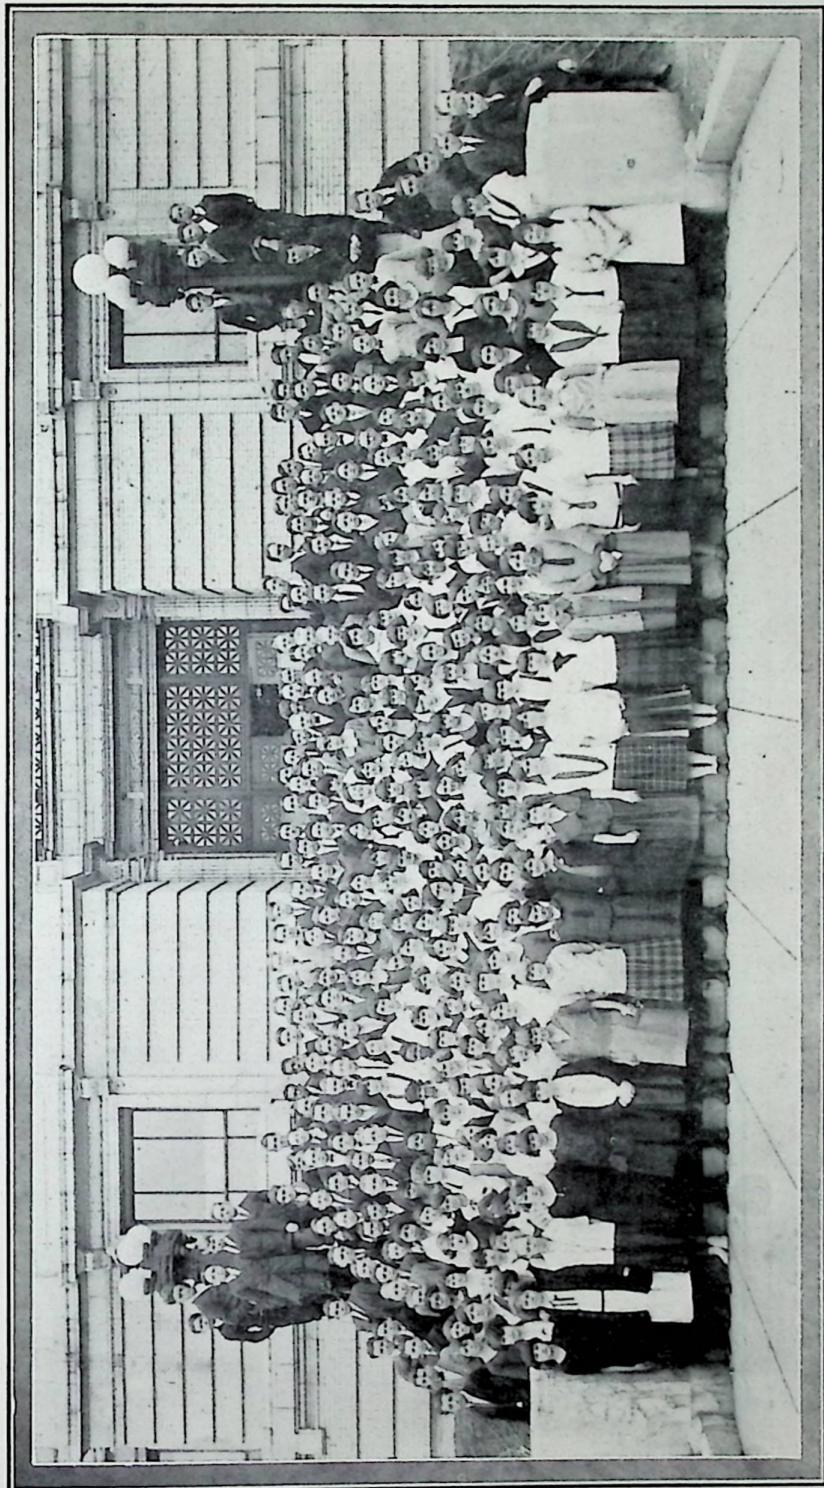

The summer months soon rolled by, and again we found ourselves assembled within the halls of dear old P. H. S., this time as dominating Sophomores, ready at a moment's notice to pounce upon the lowly and unsuspecting Freshie. However, the football season was at hand, and soon this sport became the center of interest. The "Sophs" backed the team to the limit and contributed several star players to the squad. Then came the time for basketball. Three members of our class found berths on the team, which we gave our heartiest support. We were also represented on the championship debating teams, which cannot be praised too highly. A little later came the call for track candidates. Our class loyally responded to the colors, and gave its best efforts to putting across a winning track team. In short, we Sophomores did as much as possible to carry the school to the front in all enterprises that were undertaken. Nevertheless, we have our many faults and shortcomings, of which we have said little or nothing, because it is our hope that they will become fewer and fewer in the coming years, and in time be forgotten. Summer has again arrived, and we have taken leave of our studies for a much-looked-forward-to vacation. Thus, for the time being, ends the history of '26. May the class prosper and grow greater!

Freshmen Class

Freshman Class History

ON the twelfth of August, 1492, Columbus landed in America. That was fine! But on the tenth day of September, 1923, the Freshmen landed in P. H. S. That was wonderful! For they certainly are a fine class, and have during the year shown their ability to do things. Talent? Yes, indeed! There are musicians, artists, scholars (?), athletes, and those with dramatic ability in the class.

After a few days of adjusting themselves to new surroundings, the class members held their election to choose officers. Without bloodshed, they decided upon the following: Arthur Gulker, President; Paul Williams, Vice-President; Ruth Hopkins, Secretary; Jack Bush, Treasurer, and Miss Carl, Faculty Advisor. All seemed unanimously in favor of Scarlet and Gray as class colors.

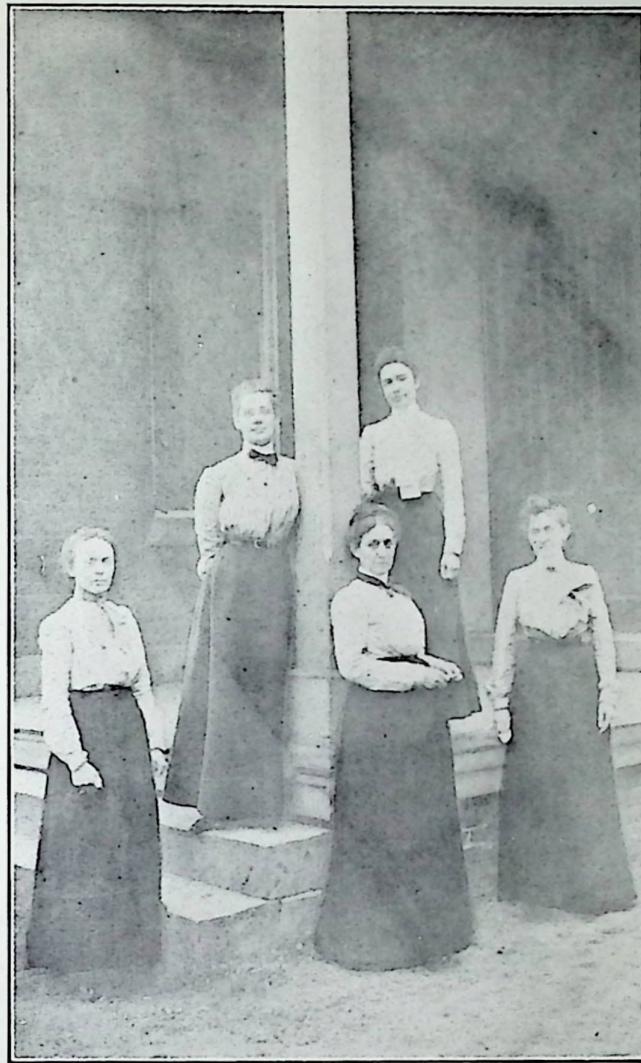

In December they responded to the call for basketball players, and were most fortunate in having three of their girls put on the squad. The others proved their worth, too, in class games, for the girls won first place.

Later in December everyone wanted a party. So there was a party—a most joyous occasion—one which all Freshmen will remember as the happiest event of the whole year.

After Christmas vacation a new class entered school and celebrated their coming by singing their class graduation song at the following chapel period. On that occasion they proved themselves good singers, as well as good sports. If too many red marks don't stop them, some day they'll be wise Sophs, then merry Juniors, and at last solemn SENIORS.

Hush, little Freshie,
Dont you cry!
You'll be a Senior
Bye and bye.

Alumni

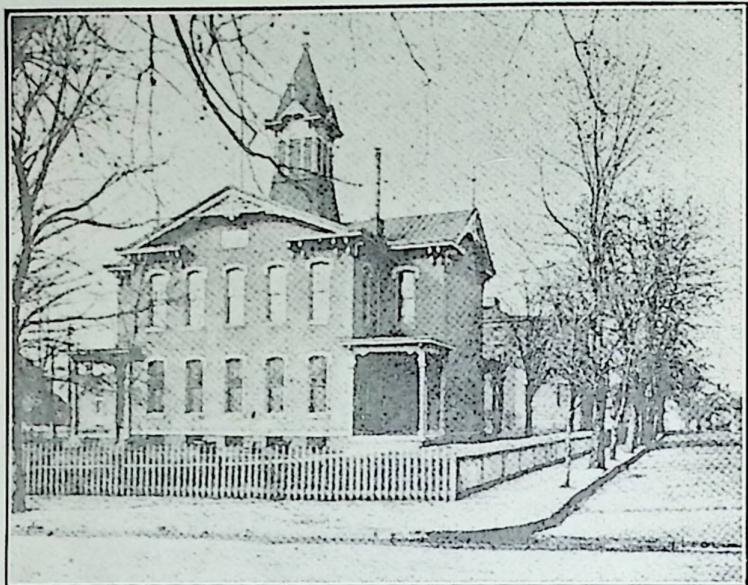

The Faculty of the Old High School, Consisting of Five Teachers. Our Present Faculty is Composed of Thirty-seven Teachers

In 1901-2, the year of the first Annual, the faculty consisted entirely of women graduates of P. H. S. As this is leap year, we consider it only fair to give them honorable mention. The faculty in 1901: Emily Ball, Principal; Lucy W. Hall, Emma M. Cramer, Margaret T. Ricker, Charlotte Bannon, and Louise Dever.

AT PRESENT

Miss Ball	Is Retired
Miss Hall	Is Teaching in P. H. S.
Miss Cramer	Is Teaching in P. H. S.
Miss Ricker	Is Teaching in P. H. S.

"Peggy" Ellsesser, our captain, was considered the greatest quarterback that P. H. S. has ever had. He has brains and knows how to use them. He is a sure tackler, and wonderful open field runner. He graduates this June.

Although "Bick" Monk played left end, he was "Peggy's" "right hand man." His interference was dependable, and he knew how to get open to receive a pass. He has one more season.

"Slim" Phillips played a hard, consistent game at tackle. Whenever a few yards were needed, "Slim" opened the hole through the opponents' line. He graduates this year.

Munson played a stellar game at guard. He will be with us one more year.

Callihan played center. He was little but mighty, and had the reputation among the opponents of being the hardest tackler they had ever seen. He is another of the graduates.

La Neave played guard and center, and filled both positions very creditably. This was his second and last year on the team.

Howard Flowers, "Posie," played both end and tackle. He was on the receiving end of the pass that won our game with Ashland. We are sorry to lose "Posie."

"Buck" Armstrong played at right end. He had the fighting spirit which made our team so successful. He was a sure tackler. He has one more year.

"Ichabod" Hefner played tackle and guard. He wasn't heavy, but he accomplished wonders just the same. He, also, has one more year.

"Bill" Moore played halfback and fullback. Although he was light, he could gain ground consistently on line plunges. He was also excellent on defense.

"Art" Gose will be remembered for some time to come for his wide, sweeping end runs. He has two more years. He played halfback.

Thompson, "Thompy," played at halfback and quarter. This is his first and last year at football in P. H. S.

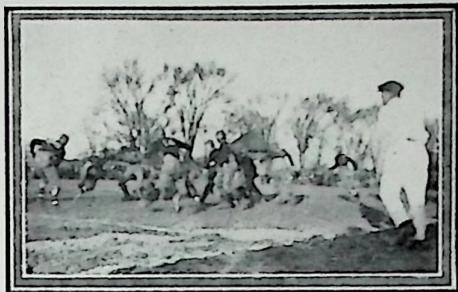

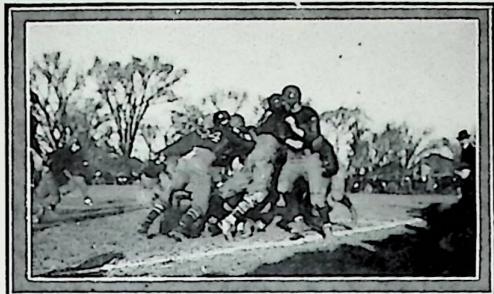

Ross McConnell played at halfback and tackle. He did wonders at Ironton and Chillicothe. He surely could hit the line hard.

"Jake" Shields played fullback. He started out the season in wonderful style, but injuries kept him on the side lines the greater part of the season.

Gridiron Snaps

THE football season of 1923 is past, but will never be forgotten. The thousands who attended the games of the last season will remember, with pride, Portsmouth's fighting eleven for the year of 1923. Two of our hardest games came first; hardest because they were difficult, and also because we lost them. These games were with Huntington and Hamilton. Considering the weight of our opponents, however, and the wonderful fighting spirit of our team, we did not lose; but we won (according to Mr. Eccles, a moral victory). Shall we ever forget the score by which we overwhelmed Nelsonville? How we bested our neighbors of New Boston, and in the same week defeated our bitterest rivals, Ironton! The Lancaster game will always be remembered as one of the most difficult games we won. At Jackson, the following week, we humbled Kennison High. A week later we tied C. H. S. at Chillicothe. Trade High, of Columbus, received a big "drubbing." Our team gave a beautiful exhibition of passing. In the fair city of Ashland, we defeated the "Tomcats" by a close margin. Then last, but not least, we can never forget how North High, of Columbus, in a field that was a veritable sea of mud, waded home with a 3 to 0 victory.

Boys' Basketball Team

Individuals

"Slim" Phillips, center, was captain of the team this year. Don got the jump on all the opposing centers. He was by far the highest scorer on our team. This was his third and last year.

"Bick" Monk played forward. He was a good shot, wonderful passer, and death on foul baskets. Football injuries kept him out of the game for awhile, but he surely made up for his absence at the beginning of the season.

"Walt" Doll, "Dolly," played the other forward position. He also was an accurate passer, and he wasn't bad on long shots. Ask Chillicothe.

"Posie" Flowers, Clarence, played guard. He could dribble the ball anywhere, any time (somehow). When score keepers saw him shoot they prepared to give P. H. S. two more points. He leaves us this year.

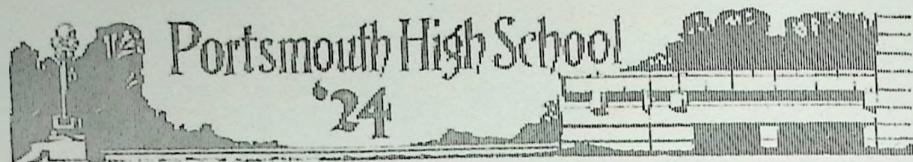

"Art" Gose played left guard. He was a fast, clean player, and added quite a few points to our score. He will be here next year.

"Peggy" Ellsesser was our fastest forward. He played a good game; however, he was forced to stop at the end of the first semester because of the new eligibility rules.

Howard Flowers could play both forward and center. He, like "Peggy," was forced to retire because of the new eligibility rules.

Hooper, manager, performed his duties in a most satisfactory style.

A Resume of Our Basketball Season

PORTSMOUTH'S Basketball Team was even more successful than the Football Team. In our first game we defeated Chillicothe easily. And in turn, we humbled Ashland, Piketon, Nelsonville. Then, wonder of wonders, we overthrew Ironton on their own floor! The following week we vanquished the Gallipolis team. The game at Ashland was very rough. Our fellows hit the floor a goodly number of times. (So did the Tomcats). Ashland was in the lead until the last quarter; then—goodbye Ashland! Sciotoville was easily defeated. The following week we received our first setback by a score of 18 to 16. The game was at Gallipolis, and was far rougher than the one at Ashland. Ironton was again bested when that team came to Portsmouth.

Our team journeyed to Athens to win the Southeastern Ohio Basketball Championship. The team returned, defeated by Greenfield, in a game requiring a five-minute overtime period. Our fellows certainly played in hard luck, and much credit is due them for not returning with any alibi.

The basketball tournament was won by Chillicothe, and we had a game scheduled with them for the following week. Naturally the battlecry was, "Beat Chillicothe." On Friday, the team journeyed to Lancaster and defeated them by a score of 14 to 12. On Saturday night our fellows closed a gloriously successful season by defeating Chillicothe, very easily indeed, by a score of 28 to 7.

Captain Helen Hopkins

Girls' Basketball Squad

WITH the beginning of the season came hopes of a Girls' Basket Ball Team such as Portsmouth had never before put on the floor—with all but one of last year's players and plenty of good material. After a number of weeks of hard practice and training, the girls' met their first test. They journeyed to Ashland on January 4th, Captain Hopkins, Selby, Dopp, Armstrong, Stewart, Fox, Robinson, and Ginn making the trip. Here they played a wonderful passing game, but lacked the ability to shoot baskets, and consequently lost, 18 to 2.

This defeat must have put a real fighting spirit in them, for they won the next five games. Circleville was the first to be defeated. On January 11th, the team went to Gallipolis, and in spite of the fact that they had to play strictly girls' rules, they marked up another victory. Then came the ancient rivals, Ironton, and they were "nosed out" by one lone point.

The famous Ashland Kittens, champions of Kentucky, came to Portsmouth on Friday, February 8th, anticipating an easy walk-away, but the score tells another tale. For the first time in the history of girls' basketball in Portsmouth High, the Ashland five were defeated by the Red and Blue.

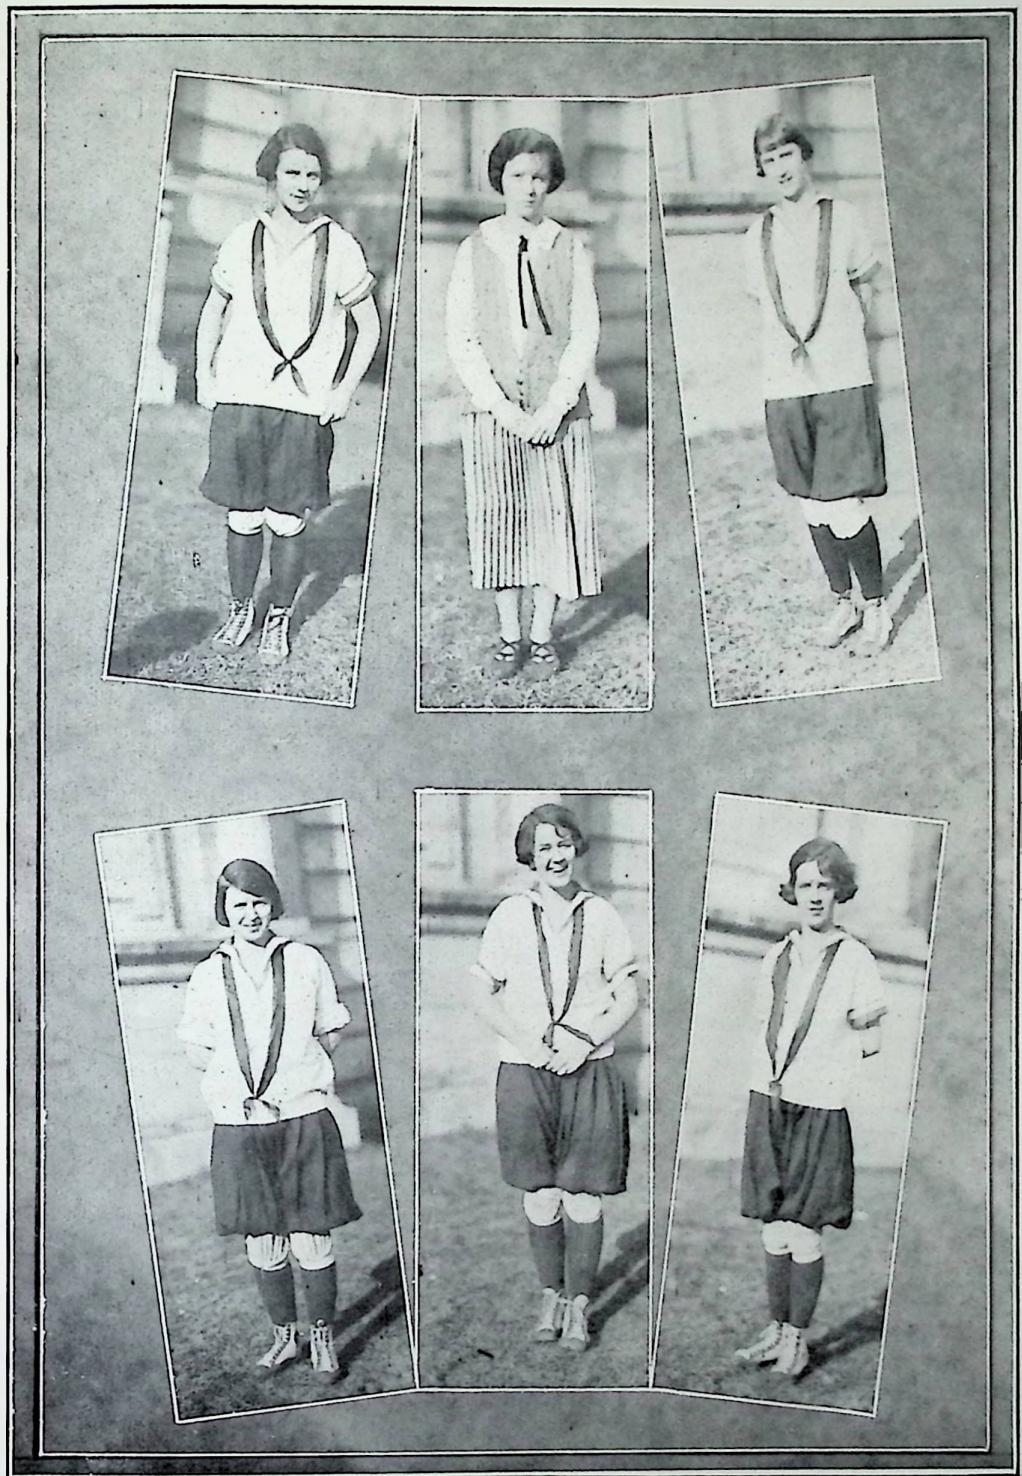

Gallipolis, putting up better opposition when playing boys' rules than when playing girls' rules, were again defeated.

Perhaps the most exciting game of the season was with Lancaster. Although Portsmouth lost, the girls deserve much credit for the splendid fight and come-back in the last quarter.

Individuals

Helen Hopkins. Captain "Hoppy" led her team most successfully through a difficult season. Helen was a consistent player. Once in awhile she would venture from her position at guard to add a couple of points to the score. This is Helen's third and last year on the team.

Mary Louise Selby. For three years "Selb" has pivoted the team from the center position. "Selb" is just a natural born basketball player, and can pass with much swiftness and accuracy.

Thelma Dopps. "Doppie" was right there when it came to shooting baskets. She could shoot from almost any position, and was the point-maker. She certainly led the Ashland Kittens a merry chase with her swift basket-tossing.

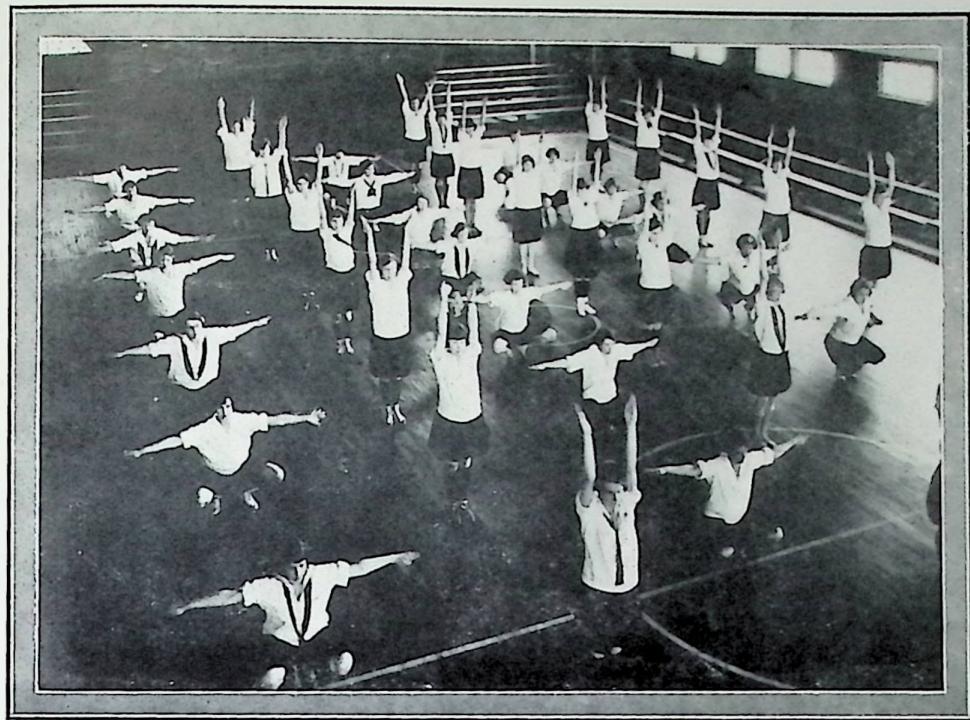

Edna Fox. "Foxie" played right forward. Her floor work was second to none. She was in the game every minute, and ran Dopps a close second in the scoring of points. We are expecting great things from Edna next year.

Virginia Stewart. "Jimmy" played the other guard position. This was "Jimmy's" first year on the team. She was not only a good guard, but showed much ability in shooting.

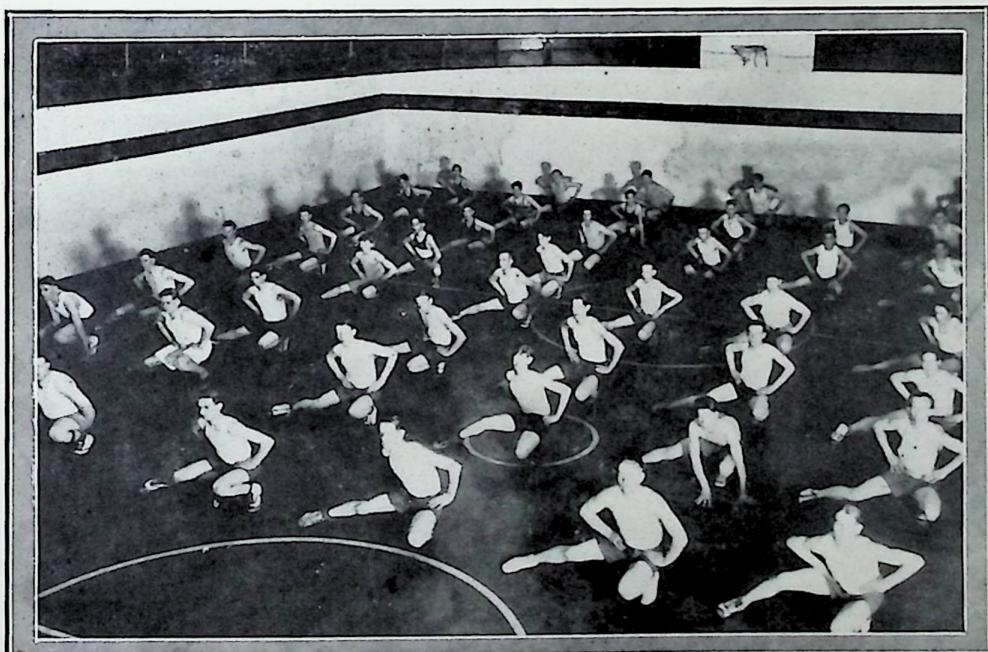

Gladys Doty. "Glad" was manager of the team, and a faithful one. She was willing to work and do anything for the team. Gladys gave as much time and took as much interest in the success of the team as any of the players.

Margaret Armstrong. Ex-Captain; winner of four letters; coach of class teams. Such is "Piggy's" record, and no more need be said. She played in every game this year until the second semester, when the fact that it was her ninth semester made her ineligible for the remaining games. It is well known that "Pig" is "THE" girls' authority on basketball in P. H. S.

The Boosters Club

THE Boosters' Club weathered its first year with no little success. And, if a good start means anything, they certainly will come through with flying colors. The Boosters' Club didn't sit around doing nothing, either. When Mr. Eccles wanted something done, he usually turned it over to the Boosters to handle. When the club was started, it was composed of all letter-winners, debaters, Annual staff members, class officers and cheer leaders. Since then it has grown considerably, three Chapel periods having been devoted to the Boosters to bring in new members. All persons who have rendered some marked service to the school are taken into the Boosters' Club.

If you don't believe it's a good, lively bunch, look over this list:

CHARTER MEMBERS

Head Ball -- We Win

HAVE you noticed the "brand new" cup and shield in the Library? Did you hear how they got there? It is a long story, but a good one. Once upon a time (all really good stories start in this way), Ohio University and Marietta College took it upon themselves to offer trophies to the champion "Head-Ballers" of Southern Ohio. In order to decide who was entitled to these trophies it was necessary to have three of these games, or debates. For the first, our negative team journeyed to Jackson, February 15th, and our affirmative team stayed in Portsmouth to meet the Jackson negatives. They couldn't play ball with us.

After disposing of Jackson, we looked for more fields to conquer, and found them at Athens and Coshocton. A triangular debate was arranged for February 22nd. Our affirmative met Athens at that city, while our negative upholders defended us valiantly against Coshocton. Both Athens and Coshocton struck out in the first inning. By this double victory we were champions of the Southeast, and entered in the finals for the Southern honors. On March 13th, Georgia West, Lucile Henson, Laurence Kimble and Reynold Smith, alternate, the affirmative team, went to Athens to debate the Southwestern champions from Cadiz High and to bring back the shield. They got it. The same night, Irene Slattery, William Boehnker, William Plummier, and Esther Graf, alternate, of the negative team, were working hard at Marietta to win the cup from the Cadiz affirmatives. They got it.

If you should like to know who were the stars of these debates, we can tell you that they were all stars, and Portsmouth High is mighty proud to be able to claim eight such debaters and one star coach, Miss Bess Platoff, of the English Department. Miss Bernice Kimble, teacher of Economics, was Miss Platoff's most able assistant in her coaching.

ANNOUNCED by tumultuous tom-toms, voluminous vociferations, and a Pfarr-fetched terpsichorean demonstration, Number 1 of Volume 1 of The Kaliko Kat put in an appearance just prior to the Christmas vacation. Since that gladsome day, one similar day each month has been made momentous by another issue of The Kat. Unlike Beauty, The Kat is not its own excuse for being. Nevertheless, it is not without reason for existence. Most high schools issue some kind of a newspaper or periodical. A year ago, P. H. S. had the "Purple Cow." A few years ago it was the "Searchlight." Back in the Paleolithic times, we had the "Echo." In the early part of the school year 1923-1924, there was no school publication.

Now the Shorthand and Typewriting classes needed some few trivial articles of equipment; hence the students of those classes conceived that the school's need was their opportunity. They resolved to publish The Kaliko Kat, and with the proceeds to buy the articles they needed.

The Kaliko Kat has been generously supported by the students of P. H. S. The business houses have taken advertising space with an equal degree of generosity. The Kat appreciates both phases of financial support with which it has been favored, and wishes thus publicly to express that appreciation. It wishes, moreover to thank those students who have contributed manuscripts and drawings.

Chemistry Club

OFFICERS

President	Paul Jordan
Vice-President	Margaret Daniels
Secretary-Treasurer	Walter Severinghaus
Critic	Josephine Chinn

THE Chemistry Club was formed by several chemistry students, with the aid of Mr. Massie, in November, 1923. This club was formed to promote more interest in the classes of science, to carry on discussions, and to make trips to neighboring plants of interest after school hours. Much of the success of this club is to be attributed to the co-operation and untiring efforts of Fred Neff, the first president, and to the Program Committee for securing the City Chemist, Mr. Shean, to speak before the club, and for obtaining framed pictures of famous scientists.

While the club is still in its infancy, each member feels that it is amply meeting the needs of, and furnishing interest for everyone in this particular department.

Class Calendar

June 1, 1923

Senior Chapel. Seniors file into Auditorium and across stage, forming quite the lengthiest "Spark Plug" in existence. Sad death of '23 witnessed by students. "Sweet Adeline" and "I'll Build a Bungalow" left to Juniors' care. J.-S. Banquet in lunch room, with dancing in new gym. "Eat, drink and be merry."

Wednesday, June 6, 1923

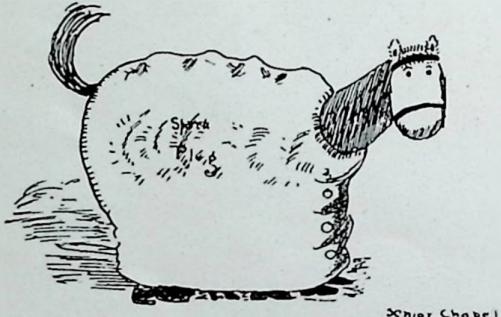

In chapel we are requested to take our books home. No school seventh period. Hurrah! Track boys awarded letters, after stumbling to the front. (There were chairs in the dark back of drawn curtain).

Thursday, June 7, 1923

Goodbye '23! Graduation exercises. How can they walk straight across the stage?

Friday, June 8, 1923

Last chapel. "Weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth." Pupils receive patriotic cards (red, white and blue). Strains of "Sweet Adeline" and "I'll Build a Bungalow" heard in corridors.

Three Months' Freedom

Tuesday, Sept. 4, 1923

"To return?" Ah, evermore! Yes, it started today, chapel 'neverthing. Even a new pupil, a fuzzy poodle dog, who took his place at Miss Severinghaus' feet on the stage.

Wednesday, Sept. 5, 1923

Oh, shucks! Lessons so soon! Girls try to use boys' lockers, and Freshmen try to enter Senior classes. Also, lunch is late.

Thursday, Sept. 6, 1923

New experiences. Rain during seventh period caused new lights to be turned on. Telephones seen in use. Boys carry mysterious red books marked "D. & M., Official Rules, 1923 and 1924." Wonder why they walk so stiffly?

Friday, Sept. 7, 1923

Wonder if all the "Freshies" got chapel tickets today. Entertained by former graduates: Miss Lollie Anderson and Mr. William Burkell. Rained. More mud for carriers of red books. Japanese Relief call sent out.

Monday, Sept. 10, 1923

Nothing seen around school but a yawn or two. Too much vacation, we suppose.

Tuesday, Sept. 11, 1923

Something new. Miss Severinghaus starts chorus classes. Hayes sleeps in Latin class. Schedules all straightened up.

Friday, Sept. 14, 1923

Mr. Eccles reads list of candidates.

Monday, Sept. 17, 1923

Class officers elected, except Freshmen. "Come on, kids, get organized!"

Sept 4, 1923 D. ...

Tuesday, Sept. 18, 1923

Sweaters worn by some, shivers by others. Building cold. Even the drone of the suction cleaners is now commonplace.

Wednesday, Sept. 19, 1923

Ah, excitement! Fire drill during sixth period. Boy wears girl's fountain pen dangling from ribbon around his neck.

Thursday, Sept. 20, 1923

Walt. Severinghaus eats his ice cream with a soup spoon.

Friday, Sept. 21, 1923

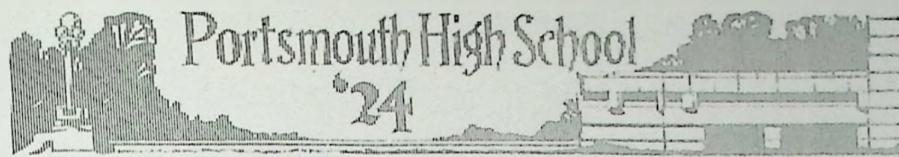

Did you know this was Constitution week? Well, it was.

Monday, Sept. 24, 1923

Herb. Rice has a haircut!! Ouch! Such an English test!!

Wednesday, Sept. 26, 1923

Miss Hall not in school. Handed in themes entitled "My Opinion of the Average Modern Girl" (or Boy). First call for "Boosters' Club." Freshmen scared "green" when they were called to office.

Portsmouth High School

Friday, Oct. 19, 1923
Writer of best yell given to "Boosters' Club" will be admitted as a member. Johnson Bros. offer Reo truck to take cheer leaders and rooters to Ironton. Two Senior boys fuss over the same chair in music class.

Tuesday, Oct. 23, 1923
Ditto yesterday. That is, ditto the slowness.

Wednesday, Oct. 24, 1923
"Boosters" in charge of chapel. "Tapin'" new member.

Thursday, Oct. 25, 1923
Blank (editor has writer's cramp).

Friday, Oct. 26, 1923
Joy be! No school, because of Teachers' convention, and we beat Lancaster 6-0!!

Monday, Oct. 29, 1923
Pshaw! Always work! Soon as one month ends, another begins!

Tuesday, Oct. 30, 1923
Rainy, gloomy, and cold, and a bawling out for not studying, to boot.

Wednesday, Oct. 31, 1923
Hallowe'en. Mischief afoot. Nice red, juicy apples given away at lunch. Also pupils see red. In other words, cards come out.

The Class Play

"A Tailor-Made Man," chosen by the Seniors for their play this year, is a comedy of a young man's ambition, and is as sharp as the crease in the hero's trousers. While full of witty and comical situations, yet it has a strong sympathetic appeal.

The caste of characters is a fair indication of the success of the play, and is as follows:

John Paul Bart (The Tailor-Made Man)	Homer Micklethwait
Huber (The Tailor)	Richard Young
Tanyo (Huber's Daughter)	Gilbert Fuller
Dr. Sonntag (A German Scholar)	John Pfarr
Rowlands (A Newspaper Man)	Georgia West
Jellicot (A Yachtsman)	Helen Hopkins
Pomeroy (His Valet)	Donald Phillips
Mr. Stanlaw (A Millionaire)	Walter Severinghaus
Mrs. Stanlaw (His Aristocratic Wife)	Laurence Kimble
Corinne (Their Daughter)	George Kaut
Wheatling (Their Butler)	Charles Frederick
Mr. Fitzmorris (Society Person)	Everett Hayes
Mrs. Fitzmorris (His Wife)	Evelyn Patton
Bobby Westlake (Society Person)	Esther Graf
Mrs. Dupuy (A Divorcee)	Mary Louise Selby
Bessie (Her Daughter)	Eulah Brady
Mr. Nathan (A Financier)	Samuel Ray
Mr. Grayson (His Secretary)	Lloyd Baker
Miss Shayne (A Stenographer)	Gertrude Licht
Mr. Whitcombe (A Business Man)	Margaret Armstrong
Russell (Labor Delegate)	Ansel Arnold
Flynn (Labor Delegate)	Helen Goldstein
Cain (Labor Delegate)	Mary Elizabeth Schwartz
	Maude Mathiott
	Josephine Chinn
	Harold Thompson
	Winston La Neave
	Olya Stewart
	Dorothy Zucker
	Owen Stone
	Willard Ellsesser
	Harold Wilhelm
	Howard Kelly

The Junior-Senior Banquet

ON Thursday evening, June 1, 1923, the annual Junior-Senior Banquet was held at the High School. A tempting three-course banquet was served by Miss Stokeley, with the following Sophomore girls assisting: Nancy Grimes, Helen Yeley, Evelyn Goetz, Persis Bannon, Elizabeth Nye, Margaret Ginn, Katherine Scott, Mildred Cross, Katherine Doerr, and Elizabeth Wycoff. This was the first time that the banquet was served in the school lunch room. While it was a bit crowded in the dining hall, there was ample room in the gymnasium, afterwards, for dancing.

The banquet hall was decorated beautifully in Senior colors of pink and green, with flowers in bowls, and many strewn along the tables. In the soft light of the pink and green candles the tables were lovely. Also, many bright colored birds, loaned by the Pet Shop, added greatly to the decorations. The birds not only were there to serve as decorations, but to carry out the idea around which the toasts had been planned. The following program will show in what way it was done:

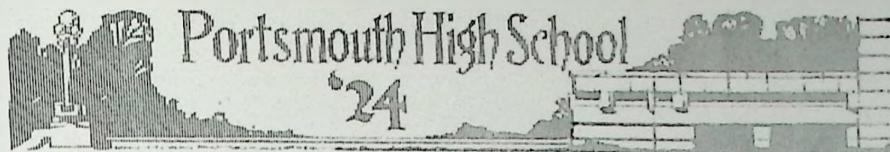

Toastmaster	Walter Severinghaus
Welcome—Bluebird	Mary Elizabeth Schwartz
Senior Girls—The Humming Bird	Laurence Kimble
Senior Boys—The Warblers	Margaret Armstrong
Miss Hall—The Meadow Lark	Clarence Yeunger
Junior Girls—The Chat	Sylvan Jackson
Junior Boys—The Flicker	Ruth Lloyd
Response—"The Sunrise Wakes the Lark to Sing"	Miss Hall
Response—"By the Bird's Song Ye May Know the Nest	Howard McNamara

It is not necessary to say that each toaster did more than justice to his subject, yet in no case wearied his listeners.

Following the toasts, everyone went to the new gymnasium for dancing, where the room was decorated in pink and green crepe paper and boughs of greenery. The music, which is always necessary for such an occasion, was furnished by an orchestra composed of High School boys.

The expense of the banquet was met by individual assessment and by the proceeds from several plays, "The Taming of the Shrew" and "The Rivals," splendidly presented by the Coffer Miller Company, of Chicago, Illinois. It was due to the kindness of Mr. Eccles that the class was given the opportunity to raise money in such a way.

Much credit is due our faculty advisor, Miss Ball, and Homer Callihan, who had charge of arrangements. Not only these, but all on committees worked valiantly. Of course, any banquet means hard work for all those in charge, but it also means energy well spent.

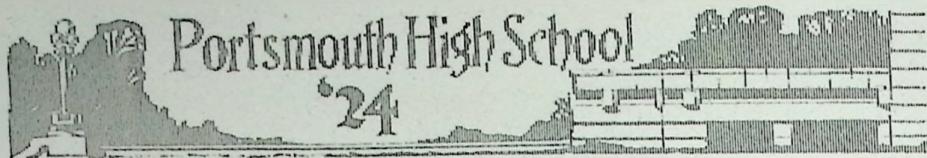

The Music Department

THE school year now coming to a close has been, so to speak, an epoch in the development of music in our school. Heretofore, less attention was paid to music than to any part of our school work. The Glee Clubs were composed of a very few students. The Orchestra was small; there was no band, and the singing in Chapel was usually done by very few. At present we have two excellent Glee Clubs, a String Choir, and a Band, of all of which any school might well be proud. Besides these organizations, the Chorus Classes have developed the Chapel singing to such an extent that it is real enjoyment to sing on Wednesdays and Fridays. Much credit for the remarkable development in the Music Department is to be given to our most capable music teacher, Miss Esther Severinghaus. We hope that next year will see even a more marked development in this department than has been shown this year.

PORPSMOUTH SCHOOL SONG

On Portsmouth! proudly at the fore,
On Portsmouth! on forevermore!
Every loyal son will give a rousing toast to you,
Every loyal daughter loves you true;
On Portsmouth! you shall ever stand,
The very best to us in all the land;
We'll be true, dear Red and Blue,
Our love shall never die
And we'll ever sing the praise of Portsmouth Hi.

On Portsmouth! fight right down the field!
On Portsmouth! never, never yield!
Get in the game and watch the ball,
Be a fighting man;
Hit 'er hard, give Portsmouth all you can.
On Portsmouth, you'll be sure to hold,
We're with you with the "pep" and love of old.
Fight for honor, fight for fame
And fight for classmates, too;
But fight hard and win the day for Red and Blue.

The Glee Clubs

It now requires more than interest on the part of pupils for them to gain membership in the High School Glee Clubs. It was only last year that Miss Severinghaus took every voice that she could get, regardless of quality. However, the large number of good voices that responded to the call for tryouts at the beginning of this year made competition lively. As a result, we have a few more than seventy of the best voices in P. H. S. enrolled in the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs.

As individual clubs, each made frequent appearances in Chapel and the combined group not only performed on such occasions, but functioned as a valuable singing nucleus, in the learning of new songs in regular Chapel singing. Both clubs also afforded pleasure and derived real benefit from performance on several programs during the year outside the realm of High School activities. We now look forward to the time when they shall give an evening's entertainment, that all outside the school may have occasion to know the quality and ability as well as we do.

Band

There were some skeptics around P. H. S. at the beginning of the year who thought the Band had blown itself away. But they were destined for a surprise. From the time the boys braved the public in overalls, by parading through the streets of the city enroute to the football field for the game, until the end of the basketball season they functioned regularly. Additions in membership during the season practically doubled the original enrollment of the organization, and every Monday night's rehearsal increased their musicianship and repertoire. They say that the "third year is charm," so just watch for the uniforms in 1924-25.

String Choir

The String Choir, which came into existence with this school year, might be called the elite member of our musical family. They played the classics and were in demand on programs outside of High School activities, as well as being of service to Chapel exercises. So versatile were they, however, that if an occasion such as a teachers' party called for it, they could also play a program of the more modern syncopated selections. During the second semester a combination of the String Choir and Band was effected, resulting in the usual High School Orchestra.

Are You A Booster

Did you give your school a boost today,
With a heart full of love and devotion?
Or try to pull back when others pushed on
With never a thought of emotion?
Oh, a school has spirit, or a school is dead;
Oh, a school is what we make it!
The school does not count what you have in your head,
But only how did you use it?

The team lost a game? Well, well, what's that?
Cheer for them just the same.
It's nothing against them to lose like that,
If they come back to win the next game.
The higher the score, the louder you cheer,
No matter who is on top;
The team that is backed by the yells you can hear
Is the hardest one to stop.

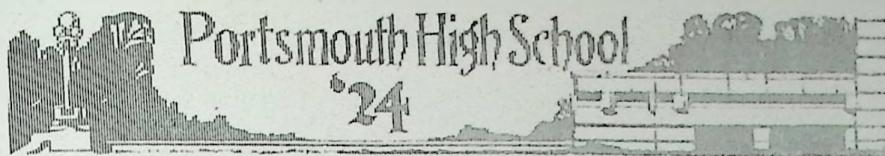

And though they be thrown to earth, what then?
If they are in fighting mood,
If they battled their best for P. H. S.,
Then a booster will call it good.
The other team may be big and strong,
Or they may depend on their speed;
But, if we get behind them with yell and with song,
Then they will "come through" with the deed.

—Laurence Kimble, '24.

The Schoolboy's Lament

When Saturday and Sunday's gone and Monday 'gins to knock,
And you hear the dawn a-comin' by the tickin' of the clock;
And you wasted all the week-end in a keerfree sort 'a way,
When you knew you orter work; but you wanted worse to play.
O, it's then's the time a feller is a-feelin' at his worst,
He'd like to keep on sleepin' if he only felt he durst;
So he settles down to books to avoid a classic shock
When Saturday and Sunday's gone and Monday 'gins to knock.

—J. Walter Severinghaus, '24.

The Ironton Game

Listen, my children, and you shall hear
Of the greatest game of all the year;
On October twentieth, in twenty-three—
'Twill ne'er be forgotten,
As you shall see.

Ironton said, "Without a doubt,
If Portsmouth wins, we'll all get out;
For if they do, it'll be a shame,
And we'll never play another game
In any city, large or small,
Until we have made old Portsmouth fall."

That day, automobiles by the score
Journeyed on to the Ironton shore;
In the afternoon at half-past two
The referee, his whistle blew.
The Tigers, Ironton's men-of-war,
Came out on the field, two teams or more.

Meanwhile, our team in uniforms neat,
Wondered, and watched with eager eyes
The team which was to receive a surprise;
We all like rooters true
Yelled and shouted for the Red and Blue
Until we heard the whistle blow—
The sound of signals, the tramp of feet
Of our players, like soldiers bold,
Pushing ever toward their goal.

You know the rest. What you saw and read,
How Ironton Tigers fought and bled,
How the Red and Blue triumphed that day
And beat the Tigers in every way;
And in the future you're sure to hear
How Portsmouth from Ironton won, that year.

—John Long, '24.

When school's last exam is ended and our books are stacked up and tied,
When all who have passed have shouted and all who failed have cried;
We shall work, and faith, we shall need to—for college days come all too soon,
It's only three months to September, and exams are forgotten in June.

—Hilda McCoy, '24.

Chilli's Gym

Hear the shouting in the gym—
CHILLI'S GYM!

There's a world of loneliness and sorrow in the dim
How the rumble, rumble, rumble
Heavy falls upon the ear!
Through the jangle and the clatter,
And we know just what's the matter,
For the game's end's very near.
As they play, play, play,
P. H. S. is very gay,
For the champions are beaten by the bounding of the ball—
Of the ball, ball, ball, ball,
Ball, ball, ball,—
By the bounding and the pounding of the ball.

There's no shouting in the gym—
CHILLI'S GYM!

There's a world of loneliness and sorrow of the dim
Of the humble, humble, humble
Little lights around the wall.
Gone, the jangle and the clatter!
The Champs lost; that's the matter—
Twenty-eight to seven's all!!!
And their play, play, play
Is all over for today;
And the champions are beaten by the bounding of the ball—
Of the ball, ball, ball, ball,
Ball, ball, ball—
By the bounding and the pounding of the ball.

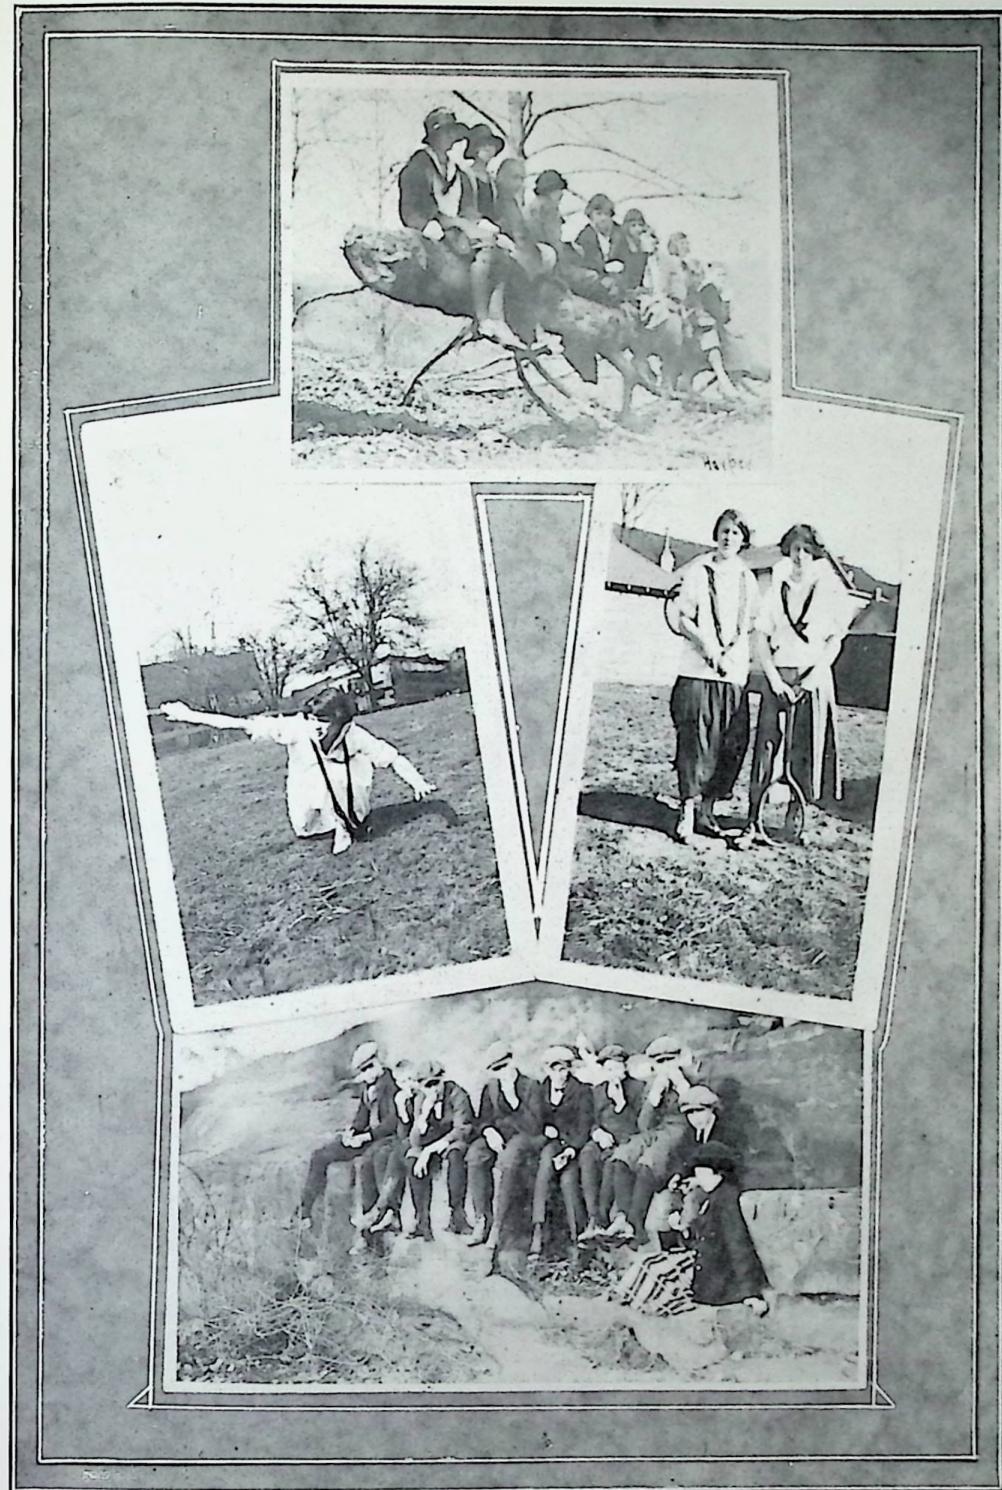

—Mary Elizabeth Schwartz, '24.

A sleepy young student (he'd been out last night),
Awoke one morn in a sorry plight;
For this was the day of the history test,
And this young student had need of his best.

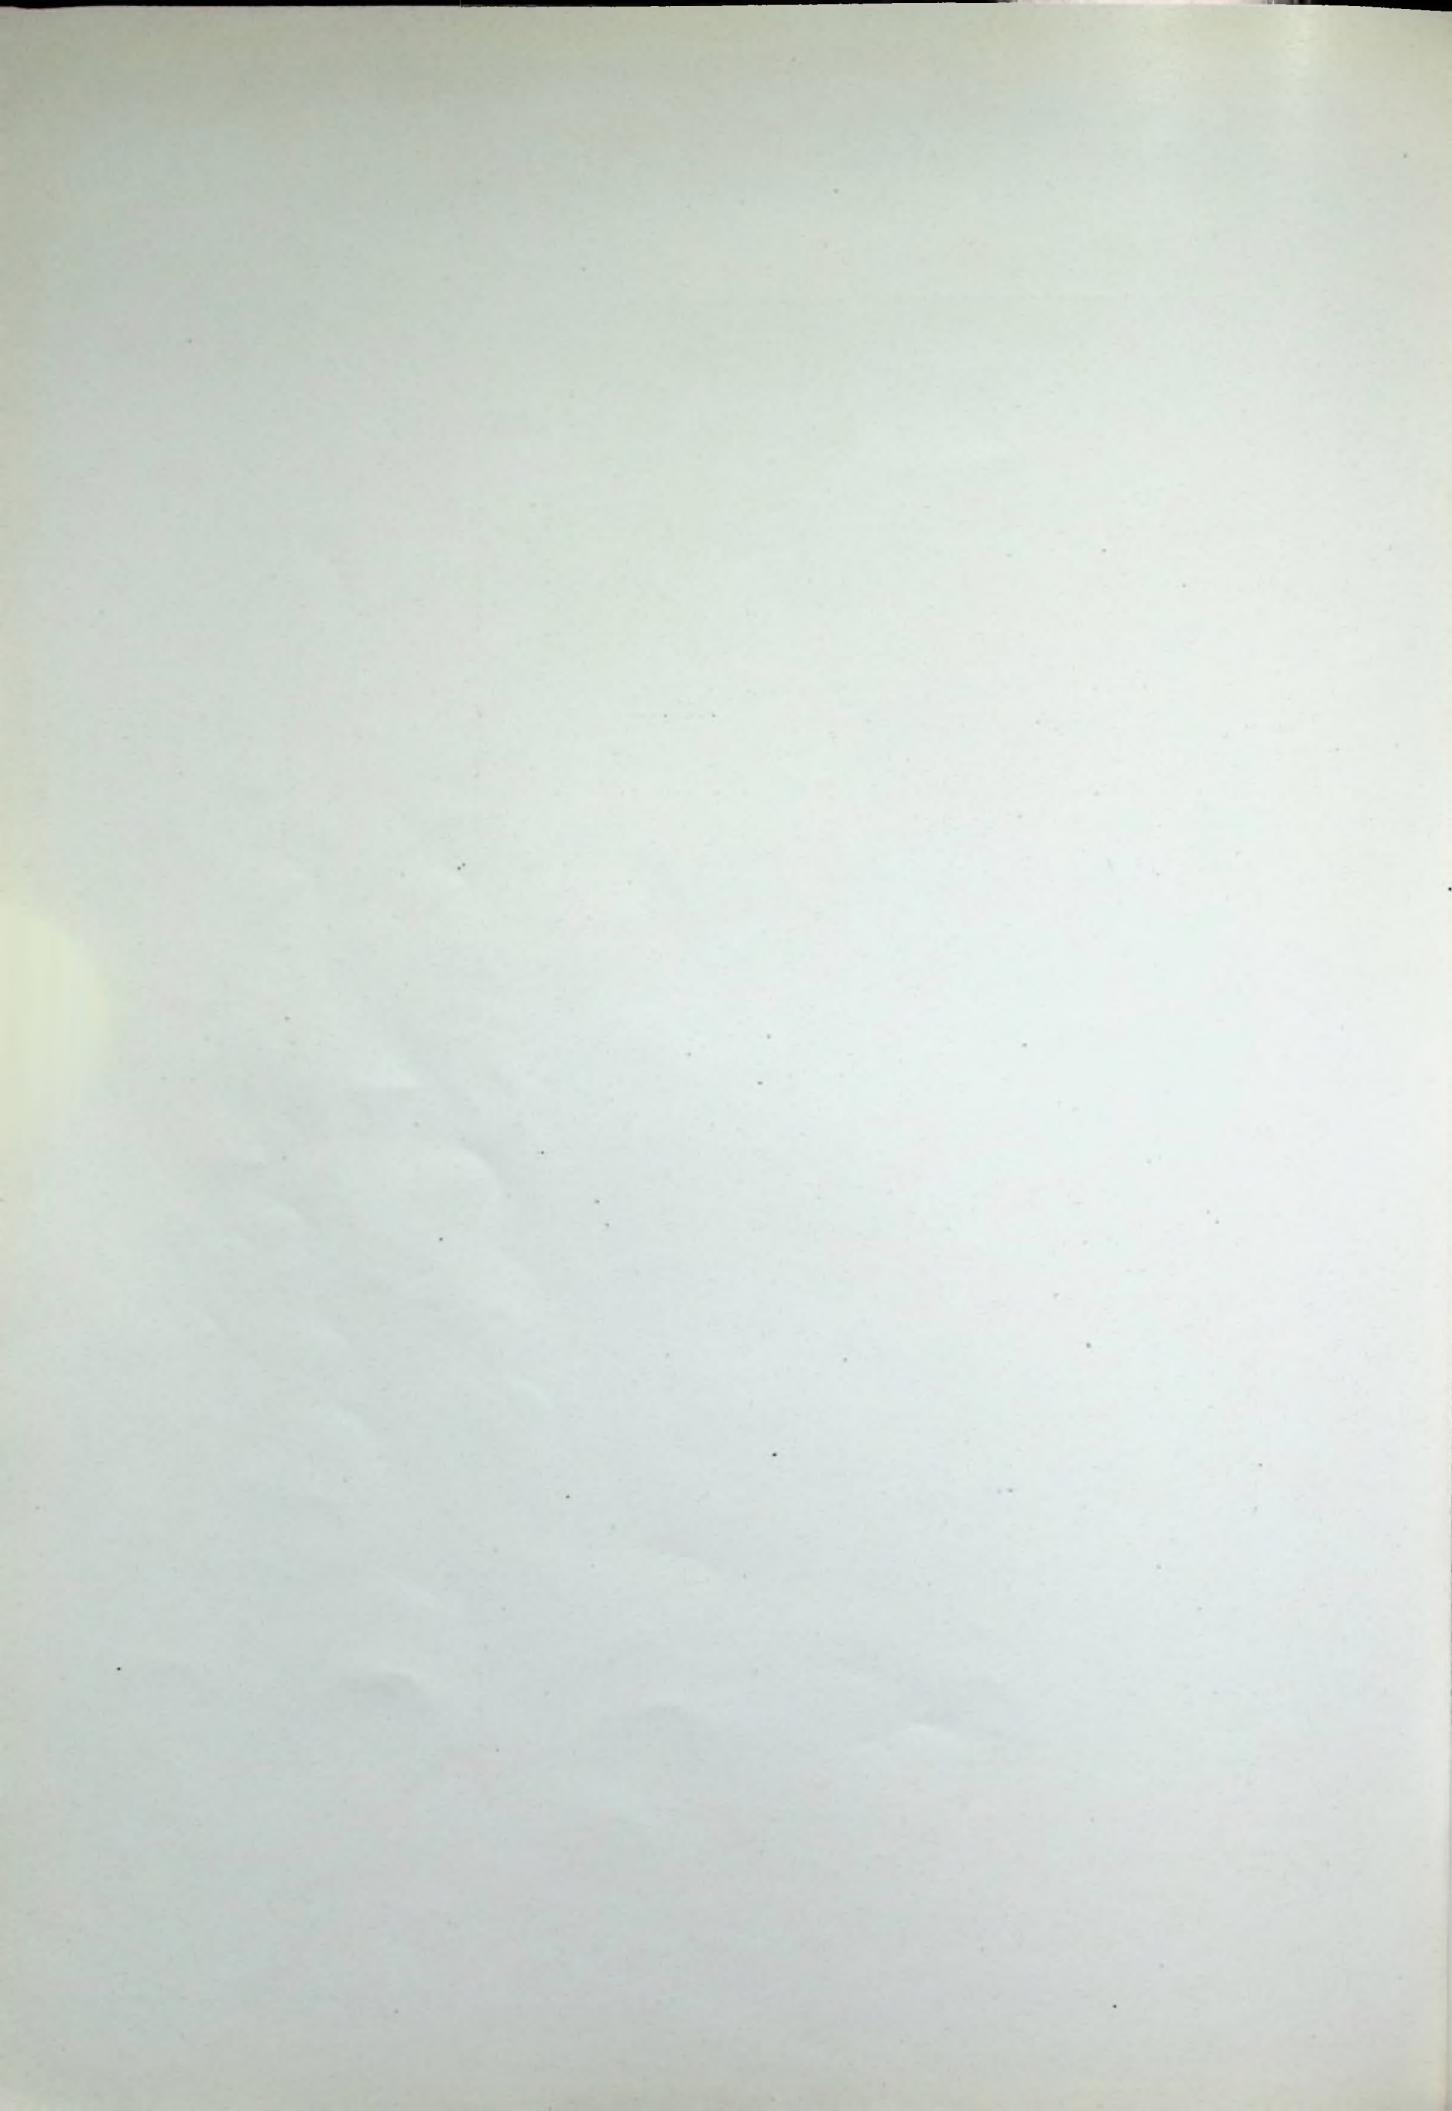

So to chapel with him he took his book,
But just had time for one drowning look
Before a teacher who spied him said:
"John, what are you doing?" John raised his head
And with a look of despair he confessed,
"I'm trying to cram for an awful hard test."

What happened to John, I think you all know,
But if not, take warning and never go
With a book to chapel, or you'll get caught,
For John learned a lesson he never forgot.

"How'd you like it?"
Miss Hilltop (naturally thinking of the sermon): "Oh, I think it was just fine! I liked it."

WILL YOU BE ONE
OF THE TWO?

Of one hundred students who enter the fifth grade, just two of them graduate from college. This startling statement is taken from Bulletin No. 34 of the United States Bureau of Education.

"Who's Who in America," which lists more than 20,000 successful living Americans, contains the names of eighty-seven times as many high school graduates as there are those who have had only grammar school instruction.

What is the answer?

It can only be this: You will succeed in life in proportion to how well you are prepared. Just beyond the echo of the next clock-tick; just behind the next leaf of the calendar; just back of the dawn of the new day and of many such dawns that are to come, lies the most interesting future in all the world—YOURS!

What are you going to do to prepare for it?

Marietta College—historical in name and achievements—has been training men and women for leadership and lives of usefulness since 1835. The college is located in beautiful old Marietta, where one enjoys life while preparing for the better things of life.
